Lin Bercher, President of Bercher Consulting, is Linking Humans Systems' Business Development Director. In this capacity Lin is responsible for helping LHS "provide state of the art protocols to as many individuals as possible" with specific emphasis on setting strategic direction with national and international strategic partners.

Our client list ranges from small to intermediate firms as well as Fortune 100 enterprises. We assist our clients by understanding their vision while integrating core competencies. With thoughtful planning we assist with strategic client / partner relationships, strategic positioning along with executive coaching and training.

Lin founded Bercher Consulting in 2003 to work with clients who desire a fully integrated approach to their vision while maximizing world class services offered through a variety of partners. Since 2004, after working in the financial services industry for 26 years, Lin expanded her market to include other industries such as health care and proactive wellness. In the financial services industry she was a financial advisor for a major insurance company, served 19 years with Kemper Funds (now Deutsche Asset Management) departing in 1999 as Senior Vice President and Managing Director. In January 2000, Lin, as a founding partner and Group President, helped launch Envestnet Asset Management, a state of the art web based workstation for financial advisors. Bercher Consulting Group, an independent consulting firm, was launched in June of 2003.

Lin and her husband Clint Funk have been homeowners in Beaver Creek, Colorado since 1996 and relocated to Beaver Creek full time from Evanston, Illinois in May of '06. Lin and Clint are involved in a number of charitable community activities and are dedicated patrons of the arts.
